

Internship opportunities at the German Marshall Fund of the United States

The German Marshall Fund of the United States (GMF) is a public policy institution that strengthens transatlantic cooperation on regional, national, and global challenges and opportunities in the spirit of the Marshall Plan.

GMF does this by supporting individuals and institutions working in the transatlantic sphere, by convening leaders and members of the policy and business communities, by contributing research and analysis on transatlantic topics, and by providing exchange opportunities to foster renewed commitment to the transatlantic relationship.

GMF is looking for highly motivated students or graduates to work on various programs:

- Asia
- Energy and Society
- Europe
- Foreign & Security Policy
- Migration & Society
- Transatlantic Leadership Initiatives
- Wider Atlantic

The intern working on a program will work closely with GMF staff and provide research, logistical and administrative support. The internship is a unique opportunity to work on current policy themes, be in close contact with the senior international policy community, attend high-level events, and gain work experience in an international environment.

GMF is accepting internship applications from candidates who are eligible for Erasmus + funding. Learn more about this European Commission funding opportunity here. This can be applied to the following GMF offices:
